Obie Calhoun, Wayne, pilot for the Engle Flying Service, 3 M Airport, Green lane, Bristol, lands his helicopter after making his first scheduled trip to Philadelphia in the flying service's new twice-daily helicopter flights to and from the city.

Helicopter Links Nearby Airports To Lower Bucks

A helicopter warmed its engines this morning, started its rotor-blades whirring, and rose into the air, starting its second day of twice-daily flights between Bristol's 3M Airport on Green lane and airstrips in Philadelphia.

The flight today was even more successful than yesterday's, according to pilot Obie Calhoun.

Calhoun said his flight this morning started about 7:15 a.m. with two passengers, E. B. Spears general manager of the Fairless Steel Works, and M. J. Rich, also of Fairless Steel.

The passengers de-planed at Philadelphia's International Field and boarded a plane warming up on the runway.

Fairless Passengers

The pilot, originally from Macon, Ga., said he picked up J. H. Brown at Fort Washington Industrial Park and dropped him off at International and picked up some cargo there for Kaiser Metals, Bristol, before returning to home base at Bristol's 3 M Airport at 11:25 a.m. today.

The afternoon flight, scheduled to leave Bristol at 1:15 p.m. today will bring success of the young venture to even greater heights, the pilot hopes.

"It can mean so much to Lower Bucks County in every way," Mr. Calhoun said. "It will mean fast transportation and greater contact with every airfield in the Good Evening!

Eighty-fifth Congress convenes today.

It could be an historic meeting if lawmakers concerned themselves primarily with the best interests of the nation and immediately approved President Eisenhower's plan for Middle East defense and then changed Senate rules on debate to eliminate the insidious filibuster.

The first, we think they'll do. The second, we doubt.

In any event, best wishes for the success of our own Willard Curtin who starts to school all over again as a freshman member of the House.

Mercury down to 15 above again this morning although when you're sitting on the inside looking at the outside the sun belies the chill of the skies.

But the skaters were out in big numbers yesterday and last night and, you know, some of these lakes with boys and girls and big bonfires are pretty as a picture.

Gene Fullmer takes the middleweight title from Sugar Ray last night without great difficulty and it's much as you expected.

You'd wonder why these ancient athletes, such as Mr. Robinson, don't quit while they're ahead. Wisest of all of 'em was Gene Tunney.

Pardon our modesty, but we know you'll understand it's justified. For first news first, and for society, sports, editorials and features, it's difficult to beat the Courier and the Times.

Read the Philly and Trenton papers and lister to the radio broadcasts and you'll better realize what we mean. They're always from two days to a week behind Pennsylvania's fastest growing newspapers.

Brennan Named On Committees

Sworn Tuesday to his second term in the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, Assemblyman A. Patrick Brennan (D. Bucks-2d) is back home in Levittown until the legislature starts business Monday.

Mr. Brennan was reappointed to the House committee on insurance, and appointed, for the first time, to the committee on counties.

85th Congress Opens; Faces Top Issues

Middle East And Civil Rights Are First Chores

Lausche Votes Demo

WASHINGTON — UP — Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-O.) voted with his party today in the Senate's first organization test of the new Congress. The vote appeared to assure Democratic control of the Senate. Lausche had kept the Senate in suspense about his vote until he actually cast it. He had hinted last summer that he might vote with the Republicans.

WASHINGTON — UP — The Democratic controlled 85th Congress convened today to wrestle with civil rights and U.S. policy in the Middle East.

These were the top priority issues as the Senate and House met at noon (EST) to start a session in which they will act on proposals of President Eisenhower's second republican administration.

In advance of today's session Senate Democrats picked veteran Sen. Carl Hayden Ariz., new "dean" of the Senate in seniority, for president pro tempore to succeed retiring Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga).

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) was re-elected and Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) was elected whip to succeed defeated Sen. Earl C. Clements (D-Ky.).

Other nominations by the Democrats included Felton M. (Skeeter) Johnston for secretary of the Senate, Joseph C. Duke for sergeant-at-arms, and Robert G. Baker for secretary for the majority. All are incumbents.

Baby Sitting Woes

Girl Handcuffed By Policeman's Son

Sixteen-year old Anne Marie McClafferty, of 644 Pine street, Bristol, learned baby sitting can be hazardous—especially if you are watching a policeman's son.

On New Year's Eve, Anne Marie was watching her two-and-a-half old cousin Tommy, son of Sgt. Thomas Stewart, Bristol Township police. Sgt. and Mrs. Stewart were off to a party nearby.

At 10:45 Stewart got an urgent call from his niece asking him to come home at once. Stewart rushed to his house with another guest from the party.

When he got there he found Anne Marie securely bound by his police handcuffs. The red-faced baby sitter said she was playing with her two-and-a-half year old charge when he snapped the cuffs on both her wrists.

She explained, as Sgt. Stewart unlocked the manacles, that she thought they were a toy Tommy had received for Christmas.

Ex-Coroner's Health Better, Judge Says

No Regret Shown Jurist Adds In Short Decision

Former Bucks County Coroner Russell J. T. Ferris this morning was refused a parole by the Montgomery County Court.

The denial was made in a one-paragraph statement written by Judge George C. Corson, who sentenced Ferris October 1 to six to 23 months in Bucks County prison, concurred in by President Judge Harold G. Knight and Judges E. Arnold Forrest and William F. Dannenhower.

"After a hearing on the parole application and consideration of the testimony," the judges said, "it appears to the hearing judge at least that the petitioner is in better health today than on the date of his sentence and that the petitioner not having taken the stand to show any regret for what he had done or indicated that he will change his way parolled, the parole is now refused."

Ferris was sentenced for falsifying records while serving as Bucks County Coroner, on charges of fraudulent conversion.

In requesting the parole, Ferris said his health has suffered as a result of imprisonment. In the trial it was brought out that the ex-official had 80 per cent of his stomach removed in surgery.

The jail sentence resulted from charges that he padded his expense account, charging for autopsies never performed and other phony expenses. The accusations were first made in the 1955 political campaign, when Ferris was Bucks County Republican chairman.

Keep Those Ear Muffs On

Crisp winter skies, replete with blue, this afternoon were to be followed by a fair and cold night, the Weather Bureau at Trenton predicted.

This afternoon's thermometer readings were expected to reach into the 30's. Tonight's low should drop near 20 in Lower Bucks.

Some cloudiness is expected tomorrow with temperatures rising into the 40's by mid-afternoon.

The second warmest Dec. since 1900 was recorded by the weatherman for last month.

Mean temperature for the month was 41.2. This is 6.2 degrees above the average Dec. reading. In 1923, a mean reading of 42 degrees was registered for the warmest Dec. in this century.

High for the month was the 69 degrees recorded on Dec. 7. A shivering 17 degrees was registered on Dec. 30 for the month's low.

Ike Hurls Challenge

WASHINGTON — UP — President Eisenhower has challenged Russia to make a "significant" contribution to world peace by pulling its armed forces out of Hungary.

The President sent his challenge directly to Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin.

He did so in replying to a Nov. 17 letter from Bulganin which called for a five-power "Summit Conference" to end deadlocked negotiations on disarmament.

Mr. Eisenhower rejected the idea of a meeting on disarmament between himself, Bulganin and the prime ministers of Britain, France and India.

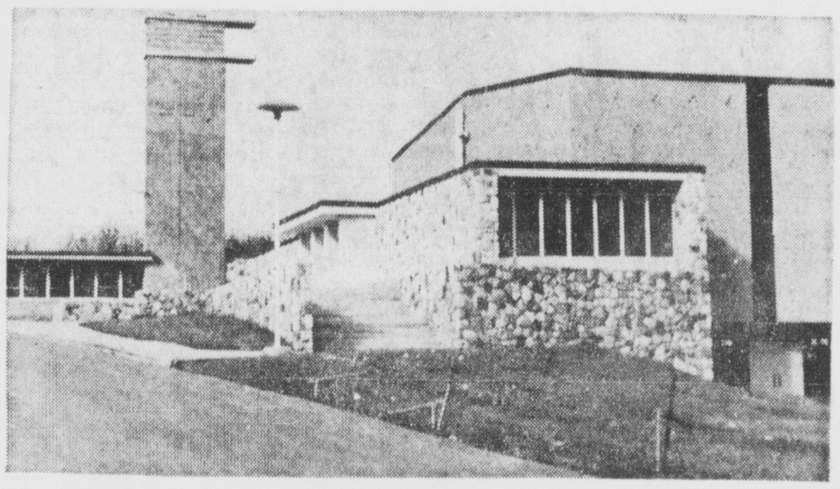

The President said continued negotiations within the United Nations "seem more likely to produce" results and that the United States will make further disarmament proposals there.

Citizens Unite To Voice Feelings As Areas Grow

The new Assumption BVM Catholic church and school marks what was once open land in the Trevose Heights area of Lower Southampton.

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of five articles on the growth of Upper and Lower Southampton townships.)

By LEE CARL
Courier and Times Staff Writer

Growth within a municipality does more than bring additional schools, houses, and other buildings—it effects the people, their entire thinking and outlook.

The complications of expansion bring the necessity of uniting so that thoughts may be exchanged, or more often because a group of voices weighs heavier than a sole complainant. So it is in Upper and Lower Southampton townships.

Civic associations have been formed to meet problems and residents flock to meetings of the township supervisors to protest certain actions.

Sewage and ditch problems plague new community after new community, causing debates and even explosive arguments in both Lower and Upper Southampton.

Small Areas

Both townships are composed of small communities, most of which are new housing developments. Similar problems have united the people in these various developments—thus bringing numerous civic groups.

The scores of smaller communities within the larger communities—those born through housing projects — include Rozel Park, Casey Hills, Willopenn, Pine Crest, Feasterville Heights, Pine Tree Farms, Casey Park, Bryn Gweled Homesteads, Maple View Terrace, Maplecrest, Broadview Farms and many others.

And more are coming. The ex-

Township Needs 75 More Teachers

Bristol Township and Delhaas school systems will launch a teacher recruiting program later this month, it was announced at last night's meeting of the Delhaas Joint School Board.

Dr. Guy F. Eberhart, regional superintendent of both systems, told the joint board that about 75 new elementary and secondary teachers will be needed by next September.

Dr. Eberhart, Robert Fraser, director of secondary education, and Robert Krebs, director of elementary education, will visit several teachers colleges and universities in and out of the state. The tour will start the week of Jan. 21.

In line with the recruiting program, which the two systems operated last year, a special brochure has been prepared. The multi-colored pamphlet contains vital information for prospective teachers. The brochure outlines salaries, working conditions and curriculum.

"Magic City"

In addition it describes the community, living conditions and costs. It points out that the two districts lie between Trenton and Philadelphia and contain "over half of the magic city of Levittown."

Dr. Eberhart said the recruit-

Sen. Martin Sees Channel Funds OK

The 85th Congress, which convenes today, will allot funds to deepen the Delaware River channel to 40 feet, U. S. Senator Edward Martin predicted today.

Congress last year voted $6,000,000, used to award contracts to begin dredging to a 35-foot depth. The work started in November.

Sen. Martin, a Pennsylvania Republican, who sits on the public works committee, said he expects the committee to support the full 40-foot depth.

Levitt Offer Is Confirmed

A spokesman for Levitt and Sons, Inc., today confirmed reports that the firm had offered the county between 300 and 400 acres of land. The land includes open storm drainage ditches and several tracts suitable for recreational purposes.

As part of the offer, the Levitt firm said it would develop a 38-acre tract along Queen Anne's Creek, between the Mill Creek and Plumbridge sections, as a recreation-park area.

Discussion

County officials discussed the offer at a special meeting Monday with representatives of Levitt and Sons, and officials of Falls, Bristol, and Middletown townships.

They have promised a decision within a month, pending further study of the problems and advantages.

At last night's meeting of the Middletown township supervisors, Angus T. Johnson, township manager, said he was invited to the Monday meeting to add to "a broader aspect" of the county's responsibilities if it accepted the offer.

He said there would be certain

Needed: A Route Man

Milkman Dares Boss 'To Step Outside'

A Levittown man wound up with a cut lip, no job, and a scheduled appearance before Morrisville JP Harry Christ after challenging his boss "to step outside" yesterday afternoon. Morrisville police reported.

Lawrence W. Donnelly, 38, of 145 Junewood drive was employed by Clover Leaf Dairies, Morrisville, until about 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

He asked for and received his pay check yesterday afternoon from Jack Broderick, 44, 850 South Pennsylvania avenue, claiming he had many bills to pay.

Police reported Donnelly told them, "Broderick owed me money and I wanted to collect. Then I upped and quit my job."

One word led to another and Donnelly challenged Broderick "to step outside and settle this thing."

Police received various descriptions of the fisticuffs but Broderick, a 200-pounder, was uninjured. Donnelly suffered cuts and bruises to his face and was

Sabol Missing From Home Since Dec. 29

13-State Alarm Out For County Democratic Figure

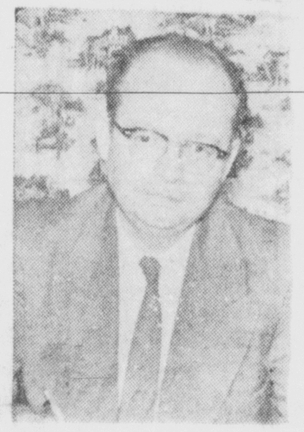

State Police have sent out a 13-state alarm for Edward J. Sabol, prominent county Democratic figure, who has been missing from his home since Dec. 29.

The alarm was sent out at the request of Bristol Township. Township Police chief John R. Stewart said Sabol, who lives at 2901 Penn Valley avenue, West Bristol, had been reported missing by his wife, Frances.

Sabol, who is a former deputy clerk in the county Orphan's Court, was elected a township auditor in November, 1955.

Sabol was one of the leaders who master - minded the Democratic upset victory in the 1955 county-wide elections. He served as publicity chairman during the campaign. He is credited with digging up most of the data that led to the arrest of Bucks County Coroner Russell J. T. Ferris.

Using the information supplied by Sabol and others, the Democrats, in the midst of the 1955 election campaign, accused Ferris of embezzlement. The disclosures led to the coroner's arrest and subsequent conviction and imprisonment.

Campaign Chairman

Last November Sabol was campaign chairman for John P. Fullam, unsuccessful candidate for Congress.

Sabol has also been active in Bristol Township Democratic circles and was elected auditor in the party's sweep of local offices in 1955. Before taking the job in the Orphan's Court, Sabol worked as an accountant.

He resigned from the Orphan's Court post last month.

Police said it is believed he left in his 1956 black and red Buick.

They described him as 32 years old, five feet, eight inches with blond, reddish hair. They said he walks with a limp in his left leg.

Labor Councils Refuse to Fire Hungary Workers

VIENNA—UP—Rebellious workers councils are openly defying the Communist regime by refusing to fire idled employes in the nationalized Hungarian factories, it was reported today.

The Soviet-backed Janos Kadar regime ordered more than 200,000 workers fired New Years Day. Virtually all of Hungary's industry has been paralyzed for weeks by a power shortage caused by coal shortages.

Reports reaching Vienna indicated worker councils in many plants ignored the government orders. In some instances, they seized factory funds in order to keep employes on full pay.

Show No Mercy

It was a risky business. The government has shown no mercy to worker leaders who continue to display any resistance. Hundreds of former leaders of the outlawed regional workers councils were arrested for refusing to knuckle down to the Red regime.

The Kadar regime was reported to have already taken steps to enforce its mass unemployment decree. Orders have been issued to banks to limit withdrawals by factories to their earnings. Previously management was permitted overdrafts to meet wage demands.

There were reports that some factories beat the government to the punch by withdrawing all funds from local banks.

Provokes Violent Reaction

The threat of mass unemployment with its subsequent threats of hunger and cold already has shown signs of provoking violent reaction among the embittered Hungarians.

Hungarian police and militia rammed trucks into a crowd of jeering, hooting women Wednesday to crush a flash demonstration against police strong-arm methods in Budapest. The incident in front of a state-run department store was seen as a reflection of the angry mood caused by the mass dismissal orders.

Budapest radio said Wednesday night more than 40,000 miners are needed in the national coal mines. It blamed the drastic manpower shortage on the mistakes of the repudiated regime of Stalinist ex-Premier Matyas Rakosi.

Neshaminy Recreation Gets Boost

By GORDON PARKER
Courier and Times Staff Writer

The Middletown Township Supervisors last night promised to increase their contributions to the Neshaminy Joint School District's recreation program.

The supervisors, at their regular monthly meeting, told Charles J. Tetlow, president of the Middletown school board, they had planned to allot $3000 for recreation in their 1957 budget. In 1956 the supervisors contributed $2500.

The township school board appropriated an equal amount, bringing the township's contribution to the joint program to $5000. After the meeting Tetlow said the school board would probably match the supervisors' increase and bring the township's 1957 share to $6000.

Middletown is a member of the Neshaminy jointure along with the boroughs of Langhorne, Langhorne Manor, Hulmeville, Penndel and Lower Southampton township. All but Lower Southampton participated in the joint recreation program last year.

In announcing the increased recreation appropriation the supervisors said they were "very satisfied" with last year's program.

Firemen Benefit

At the same time the supervisors disclosed they would increase their contributions to four fire companies serving the township.

Angus T. Johnson, township manager, said the Parkland, Hulmeville, Penndel and Langhorne Fire Companies had all requested an increase over the $250 annual contribution.

Johnson said he met with representatives of the companies last Saturday. At that time they said their solicitation drives had fallen short of their needs.

Supervisor Raymond Secules warned that if the "people don't meet their obligations to the fire companies, and we have to keep increasing our contributions, we will eventually have to impose a fire tax."

The supervisors voted to urge speedy construction of the Delaware Expressway. They acted on a request by Bristol Township secretary Thomas E. Coman who forwarded a copy of the letter the township sent to Gov. Leader. The Middletown Board approved sending a similar letter to the governor.

Victim Checks 'Mug Shots'

Bristol Township Police spent about two hours yesterday afternoon going over "mug shots" in Trenton with a service station attendant who was robbed of $570 last Saturday night.

Sgt. Thomas Stewart, of the CID squad, said Charles L. Bonner, 25, of 1467 Benner street, Philadelphia, went through the "rogues gallery" in Trenton police headquarters but was unable to identify the robbers.

Stewart said Bonner was also shown a suspect picked up by Trenton police but said he was not one of his assailants.

Two gunmen held up Bonner, an attendant at Sagots Service station, at Five-Points, Levittown, Saturday night just as he was closing up.

The men took the money Bonner was counting and fled in a late model car.

Santoro Action Rumors Denied

Rumors that two Tullytown Democrats are seeking legal action to prevent Peter A. Santoro, Democratic president of Borough Council, from being seated on the Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority today were denied by the two.

Representative A. Patrick Brennan and Reginald Olson said they knew of no such move. Mr. Santoro was appointed at a brief special meeting of Council Friday night. In previous council sessions, he was one of several candidates for the $2500 post that caused a voting deadlock.

Continuance Set For Horn Trial

The trial on morals charges against Bob Horn, former conductor of a teenage dance program on WFIL-TV was continued yesterday until Jan. 28, by Judge Edward J. Griffiths, Philadelphia.

This was the third continuance of the case against Horn, 40, of Sweetgum road, Levittown. Second District Attorney Paul M. Chalfin asked the court for the postponement because an important state witness was absent.

Early Skater Gets a Lift

It's so long since we have had ice that Rita Missera, 302 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, forgot how slippery the stuff is when she went skating on Silver Lake. Along came Jack Matusek, of 1517 River road, Croydon, to help Rita to her feet.

Youth Hurt Ice Skating On Canal

A 17-year-old Morrisville boy was one of the first victims of the winter cold snap.

Charles Sinclair Jr., 133 North Delmorr avenue, went out to test his ice skating ability yesterday afternoon on the Delaware Canal near River road in Yardley.

"He was skating along very smoothly," his mother said "when all of a sudden he went down.

"I'm not sure if he hit a pebble or a crack in the ice or just what but he went flying feet first and landed on his head."

Sinclair suffered a gash on his head and was removed to Mercer hospital, Trenton by the Union Fire Co. ambulance.

Wallet Returned With Contents

A wallet reported stolen from a 17-year-old girl visiting Mr. and Mrs. James J. McGovern, of Levittown, from Scotland School was returned yesterday, with the money apparently intact.

A man who would not give his name this morning delivered the wallet to Mrs. MGovern, with the money. He said his wife found it on the Mall of the Levittown Shopping Center.

Shopping with Mrs. McGovern and three-year-old Kay McGovern, Kay Rebert, visiting the family, said she had left it in the car. They returned to the parking lot and discovered it missing.

Levittown Woman Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Miriam Kurek, 31, of 21 Darkleaf lane, Dogwood Hollow, Levittown, died suddenly yesterday afternoon while visiting a neighbor, Mrs. Robert VanArtsdalen, of 26 Darkleaf lane.

Mrs. VanArtsdalen told Bristol Township police that Mrs. Kurek came to her house at 11 a.m. An hour-and-a-half later she suffered a sudden attack, Mrs. VanArtsdalen said.

3 Cars Crash In Falls Twp.

Three motorists were involved in a crash at 2:40 p.m. yesterday afternoon on U.S. Route 1 at the Lincoln Garage in Falls township.

A passenger in one of the cars, Adele Telosi, 50, of Philadelphia, was slightly injured but refused medical treatment.

The woman was a passenger in a vehicle operated by Clyde H. Treffeisen, 21, of 8998 Pine road, Philadelphia, who was stopped on the outside lane waiting for a car in front of him to make a left hand turn.

The collision occurred when cars driven by Anthony R. Williams, Jr., 653 Fairfield way, Union, N.J., and August Reissman, Piermont avenue, Piermont, N.Y., approached the point in the three-lane highway where it narrows down to two lanes.

When Williams was opposite Treffeisen, Reissman's and the Williams' cars collided, knocking Williams' auto into the Treffeisen vehicle.

Damage to all cars was slight. Falls Township Policemen John Taft and Wallace McCamish investigated the accident.

Levittown Home Is Dog Haven

Foundling dogs seem to have found a haven on the "doorstep" of Sid Auverbach, of 233 Dogwood drive, Levittown, but just how the latest one arrived is a mystery to the Bristol Courier and Levittown Times advertising man.

When he went home for lunch yesterday, Mr. Auverbach chained Brutus, his dark brown Brindle, behind the house. After lunch he saw the dog running loose in the back yard. Brutus' chain was attached to the carport and held a strange light tan female Brindle.

Motorist Who Saved Boy Is Identified

The search has ended for an unknown motorist who rescued a Levittown boy from an icy death in the frozen Delaware canal on Monday.

The heroic motorist was identified yesterday afternoon when he stopped at the home of Henry Dredge, 2 Kenwood drive, South, to check on the boy's condition.

Pulled Him Out

Joseph Folweiler, who lives at 198 Kenwood drive, South, Levittown, snatched the boy in his arms and pulled him out of the icy water.

Henry and a group of boy friends were pretending to ice skate on the canal near Haines road when the thin coat of ice gave way and the boy fell into the canal.

Treading Water

The boy resorted to the art of treading water for about five minutes until Folweiler, who was driving by the scene at the time, witnessed his plight and pulled him out.

Folweiler took the lad to the Lower Bucks County Hospital where he was treated for exposure.

Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Dredge.

Disorderly House Charged, Four Held

Three men and a woman were arrested yesterday after police raided a house in Trevose Heights, Lower Southampton.

George Shand, 39, and Charles Schultz, 62, residents of the raided house on Maple avenue, near Bridgetown pike, have been charged with disorderly conduct and running a disorderly house.

Mrs. Dorothy Lambert, 38, of Philadelphia, and Walter Lykens, 42, who lives on Maple avenue, near the questionable house, were charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Four Officers

Lower Southampton Police Chief Edward Wunsch lead four officers in the raid, surprising the four persons, who were allegedly engaged in a sex orgy. With Chief Wunsch were Sgt. John Wagner, Sgt. Frank Walters, and officers Joseph Kershaw and Thomas Quinn.

The chief reported that the raid took place after several days of surveillance. "We won't tolerate this sort of thing in our township," he said.

"Not Becoming"

Chief Wunsch said the woman was found "in a condition not becoming to that of a lady." He reported that Schultz said he picked up the woman the previous night in a Philadelphia bar.

Although Shand was a boarder at the house, he owned the building, explained the chief. The house was leased to Schultz.

The arrested persons are being detained in Bucks County Prison pending a hearing before Justice of the Peace Edward Dougherty, of Bridgetown pike, Northampton, at 5 o'clock tonight.

Seeing Levittown

By JIM ORT

Levittowners won't have any trouble disposing of Christmas trees. The Kiwanis Club of Levittown will sponsor a tree burning this Sunday night at 6 p.m. at the Gravel Pit at the intersection of Mill Creek parkway and the Tullytown-Fallsington road. If you want to get rid of your tree before that time, the Emilie Methodist Church is sponsoring a tree burning Saturday night at 7 p.m. on grounds adjoining the church on the Newportville-Fallsington road.

Levittown Players will be tracking to 38 Daffodil lane, Dogwood Hollow, tonight. It is the home of Adolph Mall, who will direct the next play. Bait? Parts in the romantic comedy, "The Tender Trap" which will be presented February 28, March 1 and 2, at the Little Theatre at the Walt Disney School, Levittown. Tryouts are scheduled for 8 p.m.

It pays to look where you sit! Four-year-old Gary Feldman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Feldman, 23 Basswood road, Blue Ridge, coaxed his father into taking him ice-skating recently. Ben took the lad to Pigeon Creek, which runs adjacent to Edgely road. As Gary prepared to put on his skates, he sat in a hole which was filled with water and that ended the skating for the day

Speaking of ice skating, although the season appears in full swing, the weatherman doesn't seem to want to ive his stamp of approval. Tomorrow the temperature is expected to reach the middle 40's. If your youngsters are planning t go skating, better caution them against thin ice.

Police Track Theft Leads

Middletown Township police today reported that they are "working on several leads" in the latest burglary-vandalism of the Jubilee Lanes bowling alley.

Police Chief Howard C. Shook said the New Year's eve break-in at the Bowling alley in the new Levittown Shopping Center on Route 1 "definitely" was committed by the same men who stole several hundred dollars from the same place last month.

On New Year's eve, burglars broke into the alleys and pilfered money and merchandise from seven vending machines. The intruders also broke open a liquor cabinet and drank the whiskey they found.

They left empty bottles and containers on the floor of the lobby of the establishment.

Last month, burglars operating in the same fashion broke open the same machines and took "several hundred dollars."

Chief Shook said the crimes were committed by two men.

He said he and his men are working on several clues which indicate that the thieves are from Trenton or Philadelphia.

ing team has scheduled visits to the University of West Virginia, Ohio State University as well as Penn State University, University of Pittsburgh, Indiana, (Pa.) State Teachers College, and California, (Pa.) State Teachers College.

The visits to the out-of-state schools and smaller teachers colleges are planned since the two local districts can compete more favorably with the salary scales in those areas.

50 To Be Added

About 50 new teachers will be needed next year, he said. Of these, at least 42 will be for the 28-room James Buchanan elementary school and for the 14-room addition to the Maple Shade school.

In addition to these 50, Dr. Eberhart says he expects a turnover of about 25 teachers who will have to be replaced.

The Delhaas board granted a year's leave to J. E. Sparks, chairman of the English department. Sparks asked for the leave, beginning next September, so he can work for his doctorate.

VFW Posts Set 'Blue Crutch Day' For Dimes Drive

In order to aid the March of Dimes drive, Lower Bucks County Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts will sell small, blue crutches tomorrow and Saturday.

"Operation Blue Crutch," is a project of 700 VFW Posts and 600 Ladies Auxiliary units in Pennsylvania. Last year State posts raised over $50,000 and the goal for this year has been set at $100,000

Blue Crutch Day

January is March of Dimes month and Blue Crutch day will be the general launching of the drive in the State.

In the Levittown area, members of the John Dillington Post No. 6495 will sell the crutches. Ed Foster is commander of the post.

Commander Frank Wilson and Mrs. Beatrice Kornstedt, of the Ladies Auxiliary, of the Chester W. Terchon Post No. 5542, Bristol, are in charge of the drive in the Bristol area.

Members of the Morrisville Memorial Post No. 6176 will cover the Morrisville area. Commander of the post is Harry Wilcox Jr.

Fairless Hills Drive

Lou Manie, commander, and Mrs. Angeline Manie, of the Ladies Auxiliary, will head the drive in Fairless Hills. They are members of Fairless Hills Post No. 7296.

In the Croydon area, members of the Joseph A. Schumacher Post, under Commander Thomas MacLean, will spearhead the sales.

Andalusia Area

Vets from the Bauer-Hartman-Marszalek Post No. 9198, under the direction of Commander Charles Hager and Mrs. Katherine Kowalski, will sell the crutches in the Andalusia area.

All money raised will be turned over Sunday to William A. Rawak, chairman of the Bucks County March of Dimes campaign.

McDonald Cites Gains Of Steel Union

NEW YORK —UP— David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, opened a two-day regional conference of union leaders today to discuss the union's "gains and goals."

The USW chief, who is up for re-election Feb. 12, presented statistics which he said were proof of the union's strength. He said the USW has obtained "greater wage increases than any other union" since 1953.

Average Wage

The USW reached a three-year agreement with the steel industry last August which will raise the weekly wages of steel workers to an average of $105.75.

The contract's cost-of-living clause will add three cents an hour to the workers' pay checks this week.

Court Rules For Negroes

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — UP — A federal judge in Miami today ruled bus segregation laws of the city of Miami and the state of Florida unconstitutional.

Judge Emmett C. Choate ruled in effect that the U. S. Supreme Court had decided the question in holding that segregation on buses in Montgomery, Ala., was unconstitutional.

Judge Choate's ruling was given in a hearing of four Negro women who were arrested for sitting in the white section of a Miami city bus. But the ruling could have state-wide implications, possibly affecting the situation in Tallahassee, where a cross-burning last night marked the latest violence against the drive by Negroes to end racial segregation on buses.

disadvantages to the county if it did accept the land. The county would have to maintain the drainage ditches. However, he said the recreational lands would be of great value.

The major portion of the land is along the Queen Anne and Mill Creeks and drainage ditches which carry surface run-off water

Milton Berkes, chairman of the Falls Township Board of Supervisors, said the drainage ditches will present a great problem of maintenance. He represented the township at the county meeting, along with Supervisor Clifford Watson and William Heefner, solicitor.

Fence Replacement

Berkes claimed that fence on either side of the ditch would have to be replaced soon. He pointed out the township would benefit by a site of about 35 acres near Vermilion Hills which could be used for recreation.

Harold Lefcourt, Bristol township commissioner, said the drainage ditches posed hazards in several parts of the township. But, he said, these would be offset by the advantages of the recreational sites.

country through Philadelphia connections only minutes away," he said.

The craft, piloted by Obie Calhoun of Wayne, made its first flight yesterday, initiating the first "air-taxi" service between Philadelphia fields and Bristol.

The "taxi" service was started by Delaware Valley Helicoptors, a division of the Engle Flying Service, Inc., of Bristol.

The first passenger was picked up at North Philadelphia Airport about 7:35 a.m. yesterday. The traveler was taken to Philadelphia's International airport, where he quickly boarded a waiting cross-country airliner.

The route is V-shaped and covers the North Philadelphia field, the International strip, and the Fort Washington Industrial Park, before starting back to home base at Bristol's 3M field.

The trip takes about 35 minutes. It starts from Bristol at 7:15 a.m. and begins again about 1:15 p.m.

Several of yesterday's passengers told the Courier and Times they took the ride either to familiarize themselves with helicoptor travel or just to be one of the first to use the new service.

New Congress

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) was selected to succeed Saltonstall as Senate GOP whip. The whip will act as assistant to Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.).

Although the voters reelected Mr. Eisenhower by a landslide last November, they returned Democratic majorities to the House and Senate.

Mr. Eisenhower will go before a joint session of Congress Friday or early next week to ask for a congressional blessing of the administration's new Middle Eastern policy. He wants Congress to authorize $400 million in economic aid for that area and the use of U. S. troops, if necessary, to deter Russian aggression there.

'Anything Can Happen'

Property Issue On Council Docket

Morrisville Council President Nicholas T. Mislan expects a "routine meeting" of the council at the next session Tuesday night at the Borough Hall.

"But you can't tell when a firecracker might pop at these meetings," the council president said.

"One of the matters that is certain to cause argument is the disposition of the ground offered by the Bridge Commission for use as a playground," he said.

At the last council meeting, a stormy session was born because of heated opinions as to accepting the plot of land from the Bridge Commission.

The Bridge Commission has offered to rent a plot of land adjacent to the site of the commission building for use by the borough as a playground.

A fee of $1 a year will be charged by the Commission for the use of the property.

Opposition

Opposition has arisen from residents of the area because they feel a playground near the heavily traveled highway would be a danger to area children.

Indications are growing that the property, if acquired from the Commission, may not be used for a playground at all.

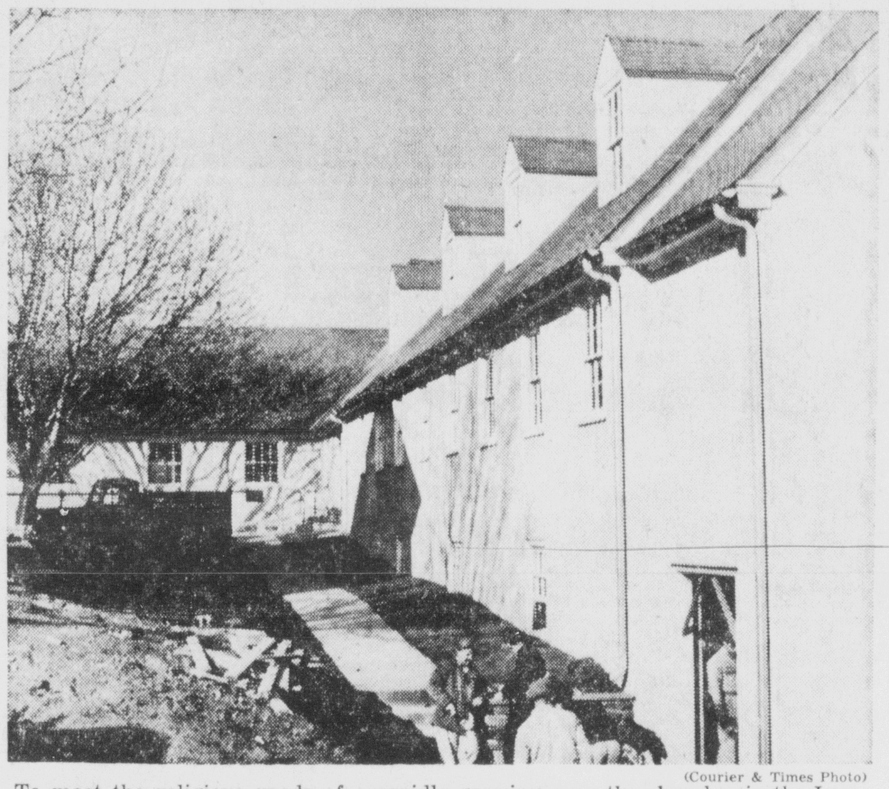

Some councilmen believe the property can be used as part of a larger deal to gain use of weighing machines from the commission. It is believed this would prove a highly profitable source of income for the borough if the keys to the scale are acquired.

The Public Property committee, under the chairmanship of Neal Nolan, will meet Monday night and offer its findings on the subject to the full council.

"Final decision on the matter can only be made before the full council. The committee can only make recommendations," Mr. Mislan said.

Other members of the property committee include William Schrieber and Charles Elcock as well as Mr. Nolan and Mr. Mislan.

Church Project

To meet the religious needs of a rapidly growing area, the churches in the Lower and Upper Southampton area are engaged in building projects. An example is this new Christian Education Building of the Feasterville Community Church. Its exterior is finished and the interior is expected to be completed for dedication ceremonies in February.

Church Sets Turkey Fete In Yardley

The regular monthly meeting of the Yardley Methodist Church W.S.C.S. will take place Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. at the Church.

Miss Laura Jane Bennett will conduct devotions and the topic "Islands in my Community" will be discussed by Mrs. J. Clair Replogle in the main Sunday School room of the Church.

After the business meeting, which will be conducted by Miss Ethel Girton, refreshments will be served. Mrs. John Dinges and Miss Ethel Girton will be in charge of the refreshments.

Dinner Jan. 12

It was also announced that the annual turkey dinner of the Church will be served Saturday, Jan. 12 in the main Sunday School room from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Tickets for this affair may be obtained by any member of the W.S.C.S. or by calling Mrs. Clifford Gordon at HY 3-2951. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Proceeds from the turkey dinner will be used to purchase furnishings for the church and parsonage.

Yardley Span Issue Aired

Yardley Borough Councilmen and the supervisors of Lower Makefield township were set to tackle the Yardley bridge problem at 4 p.m. today.

Alex Hamell, chairman of the Yardley committee, said the meeting was called to get a "united front" for presentation of the problem to the Bridge Commission.

An alternate site is being suggested by the Yardley group and a map of the new location will be presented to the Lower Makefield supervisors.

Next Session Jan. 20

Representatives of the Yardley Borough Council may attend the next session of the Bridge Commission Jan. 20.

A spokesman for the commission indicated to Mr. Hamell the commission will study "any proposal for an alternate route."

Mr. Hamell, Council President Henry O'Brien, Paul Elder and Karl Rempe will represent Yardley today.

Claude Johnson, Russell Carter, and Harry Hoffman, Lower Makefield supervisors, will represent that township.

Morrisville Troop Seeking Scouts

Glen Johnson, scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 46 of Morrisville, sponsored by the Morrisville Methodist Church, announced today that boys interested in joining the troop may do so by contacting him or his assistant, John Shull Jr.

The troop meets regularly in George K. Ryan Hall of the church at 7 p.m. every Monday.

Members of the troop committee are Hugh Hoffman, Benjamin Smith, Wallace Codd, George Chewning, and the Rev. Harold Schieck, pastor of the church.

Police Hold Man For Causing Row

A Philadelphia man was arrested in Bensalem Township yesterday after he caused a disturbance in Lower Bucks County Hospital, Bristol, where he was taken for treatment of injuries.

Sgt. Norman Rigby, Bensalem Police, said he picked up Richard Garnett, 54, of 12th and Jefferson streets, Philadelphia, yesterday near Butch's Auction, Route 1, Bensalem. Garnett was bleeding from the head, Sgt. Rigby said, evidently from a fight he'd been in a few minutes earlier.

The officer took Garnett to Lower Bucks County Hospital for treatment where Sgt. Rigby said the man "got scared or something and caused an awful row."

Rigby said he took Garnett to the Bristol Borough jail where he was scheduled for a hearing today.

The catechetical classes and the junior choir will meet in the temporary quarters at the Episcopal Church parish house. All others will meet in private homes to be announced each month.

General programming and the philosophy of women's church work will be stressed at the workshop, from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

All association officers, circle leaders, and chairman of special departments will attend. Representatives of nearby churches are also expected to attend the workshop.

Mrs. Ernst Winther will handle the refreshments. Participants will bring a box lunch and coffee and dessert will be provided.

Yardley Man Is Arrested

A Yardley man may be a firm believer today in the old adage, "Blood is thicker than water."

Henry Johnson, 34, of 134 Bell avenue, was arrested on the complaint of his wife and hauled before JP Kenneth H. Werst on a non-support charge.

Johnson's mother posted the $500 bail for him.

Johnson is the father of five young children.

Croydon Driver Bangs Into Tree

A 24-year old Croydon man lost control of his automobile on Bristol pike at Bridgewater about 4:37 p.m. yesterday and ploughed into a tree, snapping it off at its base.

Bensalem Patrolmen Alexander Mocknatch and George Egly said that Richard P. Leary, of Franklin street, Croydon, told them he lost control of his east-bound car, scooting across the highway before clobbering the tree.

Leary was arrested and charged with reckless and drunken driving, police said. His car was estimated as a total loss by police. Leary was not injured.

Voices Are United As Areas Grow

pected growth is greater than that already seen.

To meet the religious needs of this vastly expanding population, the greater percentage of established churches are engaged in building projects. And individuals have gotten together to form religious congregations heretofore not represented in the area.

Sunday School

Feasterville Community Church is constructing a three-story Christian Education Building to be used primarily as a Sunday school. It is expected to be completed by February.

Over-crowded conditions caused the Trevose Methodist Church to purchase a piece of land for construction of a large addition, and Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church, Second Street pike, Southampton, is in the midst of a school-building project which will bring needed church space in addition to classrooms.

Plans have been completed for the construction of an entire edifice for the congregation of St. Stephen's Lutheran Church, Feasterville. It will be built on Street road, just below Bustleton pike.

Congregations

Assumption BVM Catholic Church of Trevose Height's completed a massive church building and social hall, at Bristol road and Meadowbrook avenue, this fall. Scottsville Methodist of Siles has just finished a new parsonage, and Beth David Jewish Congregation has obtained ground for a temple on Street road between Trevose and Feasterville.

An Episcopal movement got underway in Southampton this fall, and already a new congregation has been formed and the building of a church is expected shortly. Two plots of ground are under study, and the Episcopal diocese in Philadelphia has granted money for construction.

Another new congregation is that of Temple Zion, a reform liberal Jewish group. It was organized only a couple months ago.

Services

But the story is more than churches and schools — a new fire house, modern and complete in its facilities, is rising on Street road, Southampton, and Philadelphia postal authorities have revealed that a new Southampton Post Office will soon be constructed.

Commercial projects and real estate transactions continue to mark the growth of the area, as old landmarks disappear.

The large Boileau residence on the south side of Street road near Second Street pike, Southampton, has been sold to a noted real estate concern. A hardware store is going up across from the Southampton Elementary School, and old mansions are being converted to modern business enterprizes.

Long discussed was a giant shopping center for Street road, next to Southampton Elementary school, but a center which appears closer to reality is the proposed shopping area for the Schwartz tract, Second Street pike.

Wolfson Project

Much discussed among the coming housing developments is the 150-home project of Charles Wolfson of Philadelphia. The Wolfson tract is adjacent to the new Poquessing school at Feasterville.

The proposed addition to the new school was prompted by Wolfson's plan, for the Lower Southampton school directors expect a large student population to eventually come from the project.

Morrisville Cubs Display Awards

Four members of Cub Pack 3 of Morrisville are walking around with their chests stuck out proudly today.

The lads received Cub awards from Cubmaster William Pogany for excellent Cub records.

The award winners were Michael Barr, bear badge; David Gray, silver and gold arrows; Lyn Roberts, gold arrows in rank of wolf, and Drew Hungar, lion badge.

Pogany also announced plans are being made for a trip to the Philadelphia Planetarium on Jan. 11.

Pupils Learn Proper Use Of Library

In school you learn readin' and writin' and 'rithmetic.

In the Yardley Elementary school, students have reading down to a science — library science.

A new club has been formed in the school which not only teaches students how to read but teaches them a vital factor in reading, the use of a library.

Under the direction of Mrs. Violet Hassell, a group of fourth or fifth grade students report to the school's library and learn how to use the facilities of the room.

Mr. Joseph Malloy, school principal, said the students have shown great interest in the new club.

"We might even get a few librarians out of some of the students in this club," the principal said.

Magazine File

Included among the projects of the library class is a magazine file set up by the students of famous Americans.

"The students cut out pictures from magazines and have placed them in a file for easy reference.

"Our students can come in to the library and get a picture of Washington or Lincoln or Thomas Edison from our magazine file.

"It certainly makes things a lot more vivid for our students," the principal said.

The library also has film clips on different subjects that are taught in the school. Students can come into the library and view clips that teach arithmetic, reading, science and many other subjects.

Girton In Third Term As Chief

This year in Morrisville, it's the turn of Capitol View Fire company to supply the borough chief.

The honor falls to Chief Roland Girton of Capitol View. It will be Chief Girton's third term as borough chief and it is his sixth year as chief of Capitol View.

On the alternating system employed in Morrisville, Chief Frank Cowell of Union Fire Co. will serve as assistant fire chief for 1957. He was last year's borough chief.
